SHORT-TERM STUDENTS EXCHANGE, XANTHI, GREECE

8-14 May, 2022

We have gathered once more with the same purpose in Xanthi, Greece, leaving our mundane lives behind and working towards a future where everyone, regardless of gender, can be empowered to have an open mind and collaborate towards a just society. This reality is far from wishful thinking and throughout the course of our seven days together, we were able to avoid gender stereotypes and dig deeper into what genuinely distinguishes today's progressive thinkers. Students were continually shown through historical innovations and current groundbreakers that they can leave a positive influence on the future and that they, too, can live to their best potential.

In a special meeting with two specialists, the students and teachers representing the five participant countries were reminded of the significance of the project's fundamental theme—the equality of boys and girls.

The students also took part in cross-gender workshops aimed at avoiding stereotypes and broadening students' future professional choices. This, along with the cultural events used as real-world examples and the positive attitudes displayed by everyone involved in the project, gave everyone involved optimism that a future like this could exist every day and not just occasionally, that one day we will enjoy equal opportunities and conditions.
